Jason,

I've attached a letter with a resolution approved by the DRYC at our October meeting. It is an expression of our support for legislation requiring residential developers to pay a recreation fee to help offset the increased use of Town of Dryden recreation programming and facilities their development represents. Legislation should also require developers to include adequate recreational space in their site plans that would be tailored to the type of residents their development is designed for.

Thank you.

David

Supervisor, Town of Dryden

Supervisor Leifer,

At the October 28th meeting of the Dryden Recreation and Youth Commission, members unanimously approved the following resolution:

The Dryden Recreation and Youth Commission supports the enactment of legislation which promotes recreation as part of residential development within the Town of Dryden.

The members of the commission believe that developers of residential properties should provide support for the increased use of Town of Dryden recreation programs and facilities in addition to ensuring that their development includes adequate space for the recreational needs of their residents.
